To the Justice Department:

Communism is almost dead. One of its principles was that people had to have a lid on how much money and/or things they could possess; the excess had to be dispersed to the multitudes. This did not lead to much ambition on the part of the people.

Bill Gates has had an entrepreneurial spirit and worked hard to get his company going successfully. He has earned everything he has and our country has benefited in many ways from his work. Let us not put a cap on his or any else's ambition by taking away their just deserts. Let us not revive the communistic way, but let it die in disgrace. Let us end the wasteful spending being conducted in this case and get on with the business of America.

Thank you for all your work.
